

Walla Walla Wine Run May 2009

This was LOH's second annual event of camaraderie and "tasting" of wine in the great state of Washington. As usual, the chapter riders who partook in this wonderful event had ol' Mother Nature to deal with – yes we did go through ALL four seasons again, but thankfully each season only lasted about 10 miles or so.

This wasn't the case for the few hearty riders including Ray and Joann C. and Jim H. who decided to leave Great Falls late Thursday afternoon, but forgot one very important item – their snow plows. Thus, they needed to stop in Lincoln for a beverage or two while they "melted" away the experience.

After all the weather delays and frequent rest area stops, the group converged together again just outside Walla Walla in Waitsburg for a sampling of fine German beers and peanuts before that last 12 mile trek to the wine promised land.

It was a fun-filled weekend of sampling wine, riding through the beautiful valley, and taking in the additional scene or two.

Oh – we did stop and look at the hot-air balloons as well. ☺

For those that missed this great event, I am sure there will be another in the not too distant future; for SURE again next year.....maybe next time we will try June or July. But, what fun can one say they have on the steed of their choice when they don't see all of Montana's great seasons in just one afternoon.

Have a great day, ride safe, and enjoy life to its fullest.
